

Miami International Airport to Hyatt Regency Miami

Avoid parking and traffic traveling to and from Miami International Airport by using one of our affordable and convenient choices. Metrobus, Metrorail and Tri-Rail airport connections are located in the Miami Central Station.

You need an EASY Card pass to ride on public transit. To purchase your fare, the EASY Card vending machines are located in the Miami Central Station. For just $2.25 each way, local residents headed out-of-town can now leave behind all the traffic and parking hassles that come with driving to the airport. And out-of-towners at the airport have the best of Miami-Dade County's attractions and activities in easy, affordable reach

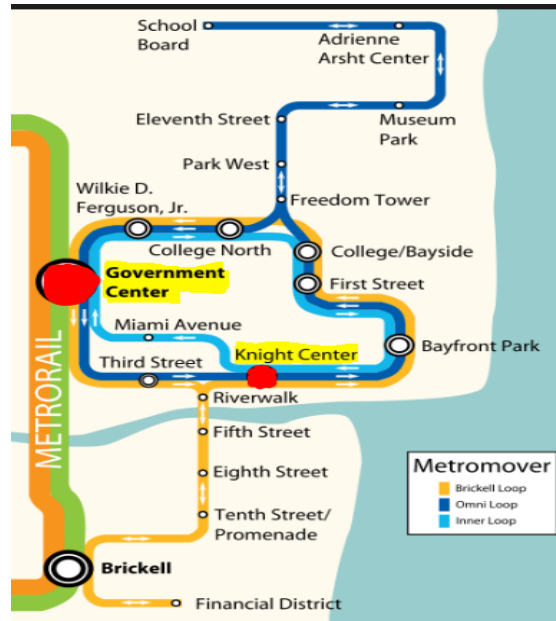

You will need to go aboard the Orange Line Train and get off at the Government Center; the main center will then take you to the Metro mover (people mover) which you will then take the stair going down to the stations platform.

Once on the station platform, watch and listen for a Metro mover car headed in your direction of travel. Check the digital display above the map in the center of the platform for each car's destination. A bell sounds when a car approaches the station. Metro mover cars arrive frequently—every 90 seconds during rush hours and every three minutes during off-peak hours. When a car arrives at your station, wait for the passengers to exit before you board. Hold on to a pole or handrail. While Metro mover is designed for standing, Priority Seating areas for the elderly and people with disabilities are located at both ends of the car. Please do not sit in these areas unless you are elderly or a person with disabilities.

You will need to take the Omni Loop, which is the dark blue line on the map, and get off at the Knight Center. In front of the platform you will see Hyatt Regency Miami Convention Center in front of you.

One arrived at the Knight Center Station; you will take the stair going down and follow the signs that say Hyatt Regency Miami Hotel, which will lead you to a tunnel that will take you to the lobby of the hotel.

Hyatt Regency Miami to Miami International Airport

After check-out of the Hotel, you will go through our tunnel located on the lobby level towards the Enterprise and Box Office. Signs are placed after the box office to guide you to the mover.

In Knight Center Station you will get on the Inner loop metromover to get down to the metro rail station Government Center station platform.

In Government station, you need an EASY Card pass to ride on public transit. You will find vending machines that are located at the platform station. For just $2.25 each way,

You will need to get Northbound Orange Line Train,

From Northbound Orange Line you will get down at MIA Metrorail station that will connect to Miami International Airport.

