

As you prepare to join us at the 2024 NRTRC Conference, we wanted to share some important information to help you make the most of your time at the conference and in beautiful Seattle!

CONFERENCE APP: SCHED

Click HERE to view the full conference program

We will utilize the Sched App for the agenda, speaker list, attendee directory, and venue maps. All registered attendees and speakers will receive an invitation email from Sched. After downloading the app from the App Store or Google Play, and using the log in instructions below, you will be able to start building your own schedule, profile, and connecting with fellow attendees.

*Note: If you choose to make your profile public, you will be able to message other conference attendees and speakers as well as see conference announcements.

Login to Sched

- 1. Go to your invitation email you receive from Sched
- 2. In the email, click Create your profile and schedule or Set your password
- 3. Log in to the event
- 4. Set a password (required if you have not use Sched before)

TRANSPORTATION AND PARKING

Seattle is easy to navigate with a wide variety of transportation options. If you’re staying at the Residence Inn by Marriott Seattle University District, there are multiple ways to travel to and from the airport. We recommend that attendees view the link below to view a map that describes the transportation options available.

WEATHER & DRESS

Seattle temperatures are expected to range between the low 60's Fahrenheit during the day (16 – 17 degrees Celsius) and mid-40's Fahrenheit in the evening. We recommend checking the local weather forecast as you pack to determine clothing needs. The dress code for the conference is business casual. We recommend bringing a lightsweater or jacket for conference sessions.

We look forward to seeing you soon for a conference that promises to be informative, transformative, and packed with opportunities for building knowledge, skills, and relationships essential to telehealth!
