

Caring for the planet TOGETHER

At Hyatt, we know the choices we make today shape the world we'll share tomorrow. That's why we're committed to using our global reach to advance environmental action.

Change at this scale is made up of progress on many, many fronts. So there's only one way we can move forward: together.

Our greatest strength is the collective action of our stakeholders: our Hyatt customers, colleagues, guests, sustainability collaborators, and people like us, who care about making the planet a priority. United by our willingness to learn and reimagine, we can do more than any of us could alone: from minimizing plastic use and food waste to working toward our 2030 science-based emissions reduction targets.

We're already on the same team, connected by the way we care for our shared world.

We look forward to taking planet-positive steps together.
