

2021 Cybercrime Symposium

May 18, 2021

To Register: <https://na.eventscloud.com/shl>

Registration Fee: $50

Earn 5 CLE (PA) OR 6 CLE (NJ)

AGENDA

8:30 - 9:15	Welcoming Remarks	Rachael A. Honig, Acting U.S. Attorney for the District of New Jersey  Mark McKeivitt, Special Agent in Charge for the United States Secret Service, Newark Field Office  George M. Crouch Jr., Special Agent in Charge for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Newark Field Office  Kathleen M. Boozang, Dean, Seton Hall Law School
9:15 – 10:15	Panel #1 The Current Threat Landscape – A View from the Field	Panelists on the front lines of cybercrime— first responders, investigators, and prosecutors—will offer insight about the security weaknesses that cybercriminals exploit, how companies become targets, and how cybercriminals profit from their attacks.
10:15 – 10:30	Break
10:30 – 11:30	A Ransomware TableTop Exercise	A former prosecutor and current in-house cyber counsel will lead a group of cyber experts from private practice, forensics, and public relations as they grapple with a simulated ransomware attack.

11:30 – 12:30	Panel #2 Developments in Cyber Law and Regulation	Scholars, regulators, and state law enforcement officers will highlight recent developments in cyber law and regulation and address their effect on civil liability, criminal process, data management, and security protocol.
12:30 -1:20	Lunch
1:30 – 2:30	Panel #3 Supply Chain Attacks: Mitigating the Risk	This panel of cybersecurity experts from the private sector, government, and leading law and accounting firms will explore the recent scourge of third-party- and vendor-initiated attacks and address how organizations can improve cyber security against supply chain threats.
2:30 - 3:15	Inside the Mind of a Hacker	Hear from an elite Russian cybercriminal and the former Assistant U.S. Attorney who prosecuted him.
3:15 – 3:30	Break
3:30 – 4:30	Panel #4 After the Breach: Working with Law Enforcement	This panel will address private sector collaboration with law enforcement before and after cyberattacks. Experienced law enforcement, legal counsel, and investigators will discuss commonly raised concerns and best practices for working together to confront the spectrum of threats that businesses face from malicious actors.